

Date Signed:
November 5, 2021

SO ORDERED.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "R. Faris", is written over a horizontal line.

Robert J. Faris
United States Bankruptcy Judge

UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT

DISTRICT OF HAWAII

In re:
CALVIN LEE HARRIS, JR.,
Debtor.

DANE S. FIELD

Plaintiff,

vs.

BANK OF AMERICA, N.A.;
NANCY ELIZABETH
WADSWORTH; TRACEY
COLETTE TAIZ; and DOE
DEFENDANTS 1-50,

Defendants.

Case No. 16-01241
Chapter 7

Adv. No. 21-90007

Dkt. 33, 37, 38

ORDER DENYING
DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO STRIKE JURY DEMAND

In this adversary proceeding, Dane S. Field, as trustee of the chapter 7 bankruptcy estate of Calvin Lee Harris, Jr., asserts claims against two groups of defendants: Counts I and II state claims against the Bank of America, N.A. (“BANA”) and Count III states claims against Nancy Elizabeth Wadsworth and Tracey Colette Taiz (the “Wadsworth-Taiz Defendants”). The trustee’s claims arise out of the allegedly wrongful nonjudicial foreclosure of Mr. Harris’s real property.

The issue before me is whether the trustee is entitled to a jury trial. I conclude that some of the trustee’s claims are triable to a jury, and some are not. I will DENY BANA’s motion to strike the trustee’s jury demand and leave it to the district court to decide how to present the case to the jury.¹

¹ I have entered orders on similar motions to strike plaintiffs’ jury demands in two other adversary proceedings concerning nearly identical claims. Order Denying Mot. Strike Jury Demand, Field v. Bank of Am. (In re Tirso), Adv. No. 20-90021 (Bankr. D. Haw. Apr. 26, 2021), ECF No. 23; Order Denying Defs’ Mot. Strike Jury Demand, Yanagi v. Bank of Am. (In re Kahikina), Adv. No. 20-90028 (Bankr. D. Haw. Apr. 26, 2021), ECF No. 31. In Tirso and Kahikina, I determined that the plaintiffs had stated both legal and equitable claims and were entitled to jury trials on their legal claims, and I recommended that the district court withdraw reference of both proceedings to set them for jury trial. BANA objected to my recommendations in both cases. On May 26, 2021, Judge Seabright adopted my recommendation in Tirso and overruled BANA’s objection, agreeing that the plaintiff was entitled to a jury trial on his combined claims for legal and equitable relief. See Order Adopting Recommendation to Withdraw Reference to Schedule and Conduct Jury Trial, Field v. Bank of Am. (In re Tirso), Civ. No. 21-00209 JMS-WRP (D. Haw.

I. BACKGROUND

Mr. Harris owned real property located at 111 Kahului Beach Road, Apartment #A107, Kahului, Hawaii 96732, which was encumbered by a mortgage. The mortgage was assigned to BANA on July 13, 2009, and BANA foreclosed on the property.² BANA acquired the property at the nonjudicial foreclosure sale and conveyed it to the Federal National Mortgage Association (“Fannie Mae”) by Quitclaim Deed recorded on September 28, 2010.³ Fannie Mae conveyed the property to David Brian West who, in turn, conveyed the property to the Wadsworth-Taiz Defendants by Apartment Deed recorded on May 2, 2019.⁴

On November 23, 2016, Mr. Harris commenced his chapter 13 bankruptcy case.⁵ On January 23, 2018, this Court entered an order converting the case to chapter 7 and appointing Dane S. Field as the

May 26, 2021), ECF No. 29 in Adv. No. 20-90021. On June 23, 2021, Judge Watson similarly adopted my recommendation in Kahikina over BANA’s objection. See Order Adopting Recommendation to Withdraw Reference, Yanagi v. Bank of Am. (In re Kahikina), Civ. No. 21-00208-DKW-RT (D. Haw. June 23, 2021), ECF No. 36 in Adv. No. 20-90028.

² Compl. ¶ 22, ECF No. 1.

³ Id. ¶ 54-55.

⁴ Id. ¶ 58-59.

⁵ Ch. 13 Voluntary Pet., ECF No. 1 in main case.

chapter 7 trustee.⁶ Mr. Harris did not list his claims against BANA or the Wadsworth-Taiz Defendants in his bankruptcy schedules.⁷ He obtained a chapter 7 discharge on May 22, 2018,⁸ and his case was closed on the same day.⁹ On January 22, 2021, Mr. Harris moved to reopen his chapter 7 case to add his claim against BANA to his bankruptcy schedules.¹⁰ The motion was granted by order entered January 22, 2021, and Dane S. Field was reappointed as the chapter 7 trustee.¹¹

Trustee Field filed the complaint commencing this adversary proceeding on March 2, 2021.¹² In the complaint, the trustee demanded a jury trial on all claims so triable.¹³ On August 30, 2021, BANA filed its Motion to Strike Jury Demand.¹⁴ At the hearing on the motion, Van-Alan H. Shima appeared for the chapter 7 trustee and Patricia J. McHenry appeared for BANA.

⁶ Order Granting Debtor's Notice of Conversion of Chapter 13 Case to Chapter 7 Case, ECF No. 37 in main case.

⁷ See Debtor's Schedules, ECF No. 1 in main case.

⁸ Order of Discharge, ECF No. 63 in main case.

⁹ Final Decree, ECF No. 64 in main case.

¹⁰ Mot. to Reopen Ch. 7 case, ECF No. 67 in main case.

¹¹ Order Granting Motion to Reopen Case, ECF No. 68 in main case.

¹² Compl., ECF No. 1.

¹³ Compl., ECF No. 1 at 40.

¹⁴ Mot. to Strike Jury Demand, ECF No. 33.

II. ANALYSIS

A. Standard

“The Seventh Amendment provides: ‘In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved. . .’”¹⁵ The Supreme Court has interpreted the phrase “Suits at common law” to refer to “suits in which legal rights were to be ascertained and determined,” as opposed “to those where equitable rights alone were recognized, and equitable remedies administered.”¹⁶

To decide whether an action should be tried by a jury, courts engage in a two-part inquiry. First, the court compares the action to 18th-century actions brought in the courts of England prior to the merger of the courts of law and equity.¹⁷ Second, the court examines the remedy sought and determines whether it is legal or equitable in nature.¹⁸ “The second stage of this analysis is more important than the first.”¹⁹

¹⁵ Granfinanciera, S.A. v. Nordberg, 492 U.S. 33, 40-41 (1989).

¹⁶ Id. at 41 (quoting Parsons v. Bedford, Breedlove & Robeson, 28 U.S. (3 Pet.) 433, 447 (1830)).

¹⁷ Id. at 42 (quoting Tull v. United States, 481 U.S. 412, 417 (1987)).

¹⁸ Id. (quoting Tull, 481 U.S. at 417-418).

¹⁹ Id. (citing Tull, 481 U.S. at 421)

When a federal court hears a state law claim, “characterization of [a] state-created claim as legal or equitable for purposes of whether a right to jury trial is indicated must be made by recourse to federal law.”²⁰ State law determines only “the elements of the cause of action and the propriety of the remedies sought.”²¹

Where an action involves both legal and equitable claims, “the right to trial by jury of legal claims must be preserved.”²² If the complaint requests both legal and equitable relief, the parties are still entitled to a jury trial on the legal claim. The right to a jury trial “cannot be abridged by characterizing the legal claim as ‘incidental’ to the equitable relief sought.”²³

B. Wrongful Foreclosure (Count I)

Count I is a claim against BANA for wrongful deprivation of real property. As a remedy, the Trustee seeks return of the property and

²⁰ Simler v. Conner, 372 U.S. 221, 222 (1963)

²¹ Gallagher v. Wilton Enterprises, Inc., 962 F.2d 120, 122 (1st Cir. 1992).

²² Dairy Queen, Inc. v. Wood, 369 U.S. 469, 471-72 (1962).

²³ Curtis v. Loether, 415 U.S. 189, 196 n.11 (1974); see also Dairy Queen, 369 U.S. at 473 n.8 (“It would make no difference if the equitable cause clearly outweighed the legal cause so that the basic issue of the case taken as a whole is equitable. As long as any legal cause is involved the jury rights it creates control.”) (quoting Thermo-Stitch, Inc. v. Chemi-Cord Processing Corp., 294 F.2d 486, 491 (5th Cir. 1961)).

damages for loss of use. If title and possession are not returned, the trustee requests additional damages, restitution, rescissory damages, or other equitable damages “to approximate the return of the Property and to compensate for the loss of use.”²⁴ BANA argues that both the claim of wrongful foreclosure and the relief sought in Count I, including the trustee’s request for monetary damages, are equitable in nature.²⁵

A party injured by wrongful foreclosure may sue “in equity to set the foreclosure aside or in law for damages, allowing the foreclosure to stand.”²⁶ A jury trial would traditionally be available on a suit for damages.²⁷ Though federal law governs the present inquiry, the Hawaii Supreme Court’s decisions support the characterization of a suit to recover property as one in equity and a suit for damages as one at law.²⁸

²⁴ Compl. ¶ 69, ECF No. 1.

²⁵ Mot. to Strike Jury Demand 5, 7, ECF No. 33.

²⁶ Nat’l Life Ins. Co. v. Silverman, 454 F.2d 899, 917 (D.C. Cir. 1971); accord Restatement (Second) of Torts § 927 cmt. k (“It is only where the tortfeasor has conveyed the land to another that there can be recovery of the value of the land in an action at law.”) (Am. L. Inst. 1979).

²⁷ Johnson v. Fairfax Village Condo. IV Unit Owners Ass’n, 641 A.2d 495, 507 (D.C. Cir. 1994) (“A suit for damages for wrongful foreclosure is traditionally an action at law for which a jury trial would be available.”).

²⁸ In Santiago v. Tanaka, 366 P.3d 612 (Haw. 2016), the state supreme court held that “[w]here it is determined that the nonjudicial foreclosure of a property is wrongful, the sale of the property is invalid and voidable at the election of the mortgagor,” unless the property has been resold to a third party. Id. at 633. In such a case, the court exercises its “equitable power” to award “restitution of [the mortgagor’s] proven out-of-pocket losses.” Id. This suggests that the damages remedy might be treated as “equitable”

This characterization of wrongful foreclosure as alternatively legal or equitable depending on the remedy is also logical if the present action for wrongful nonjudicial foreclosure is framed as a suit for breach of contract.²⁹ Though breach of contract is a classic common law action, equitable remedies are available for breach of contract where no adequate legal remedy exists.³⁰ Specific performance – here, return of the property – is one such equitable remedy.³¹ Alternatively, wrongful foreclosure can be under Hawaii law. But two subsequent decisions indicate that the damages remedy is legal. In Mount v. Apao, 384 P.3d 1268 (Haw. 2016), the court summarized Santiago as “holding that where the nonjudicial foreclosure of a property is wrongful, the sale of the property is invalid and voidable at the election of the mortgagor, who shall regain title to and possession of the property, except where the property has passed into the hands of an innocent purchaser for value, under which circumstances, an action at law for damages is generally the appropriate remedy.” Id. at 1270 (emphasis added). Further, in Lima v. Deutsche Bank Nat’l Tr. Co., No. SCCQ-19-0000397, 2021 Haw. LEXIS 204, at *18 (Sept. 3, 2021), the court stated that the wrongful foreclosure and UDAP claims “arise in tort” and “the plaintiffs must demonstrate compensatory damages . . .” Id. A tort claim that entitles the plaintiff to compensatory damages is a classic example of a legal claim.

Lima also established the measure of damages in such cases in a way that may limit or eliminate plaintiffs’ potential recovery. But the trustee’s ability to prove damages is irrelevant to his right to a jury trial on that issue.

²⁹ “[A] breach of contract is a failure, without legal excuse, to perform any promise that forms the whole or part of a contract.” 23 Williston on Contracts § 63:1 (4th ed.). Here, the breach is BANA’s alleged failure to comply with the power of sale provision in the mortgage. See Kekauoha-Alisa v. Ameriquist Mortgage Co. (In re Kekauoha-Alisa), 674 F.3d 1083, 1090-91 (9th Cir. 2012) (“[B]ecause Lenders’ improper postponement of the foreclosure sale violated HRS § 667-5, it also constituted a breach of contract.”), aff’d in part and vacating in part 407 B.R. 442 (B.A.P. 9th Cir. 2009), reversing in part 394 B.R. 507, 518 (Bankr. D. Haw. 2008) (holding that the lenders’ failure to comply with Hawaii’s nonjudicial foreclosure statute and the power of sale in the mortgage constituted breach of contract).

³⁰ See 25 Williston on Contracts § 67:8 (4th ed. 2020).

³¹ E.g., Philadelphia Indem. Ins. Co. v. Ohana Control Sys., Inc., 450 F. Supp. 3d 1043, 1052 (D. Haw. 2020) (“Specific performance is a remedy in a breach of contract action. That remedy is equitable.”) (citations omitted); 25 Williston on Contracts § 67:1 (4th ed. 2020).

analogized to the tort of conversion,³² for which there are concurrent legal and equitable remedies.³³

Because the trustee requests a mixture of legal and equitable relief, he is entitled to a jury trial at least on the factual issues that are common to both remedies.³⁴

C. Unfair and Deceptive Trade Practices and Unfair Methods of Competition (Count II)

In Count II, the trustee alleges violations of Haw. Rev. Stat. section 480-2 and seeks treble the debtor's economic damages caused by BANA's conduct under section 480-13.³⁵ The trustee also seeks declaratory and injunctive relief.³⁶

Under the first prong of the Granfinanciera inquiry, the trustee's statutory action is analogous to one that would traditionally be brought in ³² See Restatement (Second) of Torts 927 cmt. k ("The principles underlying the rules of damages for the conversion of chattels apply to situations where the title to land has been tortiously destroyed by one who had a power but not a privilege of conveyance. . ."); see also Kekauoha-Alisa v. Ameriquet Mortgage Co. (In re Kekauoha-Alisa), Adv. No. 06-90041, 2013 WL 773057, at *1-2 (Bankr. D. Haw. Feb. 27, 2013) (analogizing lenders' misconduct in illegal foreclosure sale to the tort of conversion).

³³ 18 Am. Jur. 2d Conversion § 65 ("The owner of converted property has an option of bringing an action either for is specific recovery or for its market value.") (2021).

³⁴ See Johnson, 641 A.2d at 507 ("[I]f there are factual issues common to both the legal and equitable claims, the parties have a right to a jury trial on the common issues.").

³⁵ Compl., ¶ 96, ECF No. 1.

³⁶ Id. ¶ 95.

a court of law. The trustee points out (and the Restatement (Second) of Torts confirms) that unfair competition and trade regulation actions evolved from tort law, though the fields are now considered independent bodies of law.³⁷ In addition, the Intermediate Court of Appeals of Hawaii has held that similar actions under section 480-13 are tort actions.³⁸ Because the trustee's claim sounds basically in tort, it is legal in nature.³⁹

Under the second prong of the inquiry, the relief sought in Count II would also be considered legal in nature. Count II seeks money damages, "the classic form of legal relief."⁴⁰ Furthermore, sections 480-2 and 480-13 are to "be construed in accordance with judicial interpretations of similar federal antitrust statutes. . ."⁴¹ The treble damages remedy provided by federal antitrust statutes is considered legal in nature.⁴² It follows that a suit

³⁷ See Restatement (Second) of Torts Nine Intro. Note (Am. L. Inst. 1979).

³⁸ Eastern Star, Inc. v. Union Bldg. Mat. Corp., 712 P.2d 1148, 1155 (Haw. App. 1985) ("A treble damage action under HRS § 480-13(a)(1) based on violations of HRS § 480-2 is a tort action.").

³⁹ City of Monterey v. Del Monte Dunes at Monterey Ltd., 526 U.S. 687, 709 (1999) ("[T]he Seventh Amendment jury guarantee extends to statutory claims unknown to the common law, so long as the claims can be said to 'soun[d] basically in tort,' and seek legal relief.") (quoting Curtis, 415 U.S. at 195-96).

⁴⁰ Great-West Life & Annuity Ins. Co. v. Knudson, 534 U.S. 204, 210 (2002) (quoting Mertens v. Hewitt Assocs., 508 U.S. 248, 255 (1993)).

⁴¹ Haw. Rev. Stat. Ann. 480-3 (West 2021).

⁴² Beacon Theatres, Inc. v. Westover, 359 U.S. 500, 504 (1959) (citations omitted); Fleitmann v. Welsbach Street Lighting Co. of Am., 240 U.S. 27, 29 (1916) ("[W]hen a penalty of triple damages is sought to be inflicted, the [Sherman Act] statute should not be read as attempting to authorize liability to be enforced otherwise than through the verdict of a jury in a court of common law.").

under a similar Hawaii statute and requesting the same treble damages remedy should also be tried to a jury.

The trustee's request for declaratory and injunctive relief under section 480-13 does not deprive the trustee of the right to a jury trial on Count II. "[W]here a statute authorizes both equitable and legal relief, the plaintiff's decision to 'join[]' a legal claim with an equitable claim does not 'abridge[]' 'the right to jury trial on the legal claim.'" It is irrelevant whether an action is properly characterized 'as one for damages and injunctive relief, or as one for damages alone, for purposes of analyzing the jury trial issue.'"⁴³ Again, the common issues, which may be all the issues on this count, should be tried to a jury.

D. Quiet Title and Ejectment (Count III)

In Count III, the trustee seeks quiet title and ejectment against the Wadsworth-Taiz Defendants. As relief, the trustee requests an order awarding title and possession of the property and quieting any claim of ⁴³ Tamosaitis v. URS Inc., 781 F.3d 468, 487 (9th Cir. 2015) (quoting Curtis, 415 U.S. at 196 n. 11) (citations omitted).

title by the Wadsworth-Taiz Defendants, as well as recovery of the property's lost rental value.⁴⁴

Quiet title and ejectment were traditionally considered discrete causes of action.⁴⁵ An action at law for ejectment could be brought by a plaintiff who did not possess the land but had the right to possession.⁴⁶ The available relief in an ejectment suit included monetary damages in addition to a judgment for possession.⁴⁷ Consistent with common law, federal courts have long considered ejectment a legal action.⁴⁸

By contrast, quiet title was traditionally considered a suit in equity and could only be brought by a plaintiff in possession of the property.⁴⁹ However, some state statutes “enlarge[] the jurisdiction of equity courts in suits to remove a cloud or to quiet title,” allowing a party out of possession

⁴⁴ Compl. ¶¶ 97-98, ECF No. 1.

⁴⁵ 65 Am. Jur. 2d Quieting Title § 2 (2021).

⁴⁶ 25 Am. Jur. 2d Ejectment § 1 (2021).

⁴⁷ See id. § 49.

⁴⁸ See, e.g., Pernell v. Southall Realty, 416 U.S. 363, 375-76 (1974) (determining that the parties were entitled to a jury trial on claims under D.C. Code 16-1501 because the statute served the same essential function as the common-law action of ejectment); Redfield v. Parks, 132 U.S. 239, 244 (1889) (“In the courts of the United States, where the distinction between actions at law and suits in equity has always been maintained, the action of ejectment is an action at law . . .”); Amoco Oil Co. v. Torcomian, 722 F.2d 1099, 1103 (3d. Cir. 1983) (“The complaint sought ejectment, a form of action long regarded as legal.”).

⁴⁹ 65 Am. Jur. 2d Quieting Title § 1.

of the land to bring a quiet title claim.⁵⁰ Though the trustee does not state his Count III claims under any particular statute, his quiet title claim appears to be brought under Haw. Rev. Stat. section 669-1, which provides that an “[a]ction may be brought by any person against another who claims, or who may claim adversely to the plaintiff, an estate or interest in real property, for the purpose of determining the adverse claim.”⁵¹ Federal courts characterize quiet title as an equitable action,⁵² even when state law provides a statutory remedy.⁵³ Therefore, Count III combines claims that are both legal and equitable in nature.

Turning to the remedies, the trustee requests an order quieting title to the property, a traditionally equitable remedy⁵⁴ that would not entitle him to a jury trial under the second prong of the Granfinanciera test. However, ⁵⁰ Id. § 38.

⁵¹ Haw. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 669-1(a) (West 2021)

⁵² See Fulkerson v. Chisna Mining & Imp. Co., 122 F. 782, 784 (9th Cir. 1903) (“[I]n an ordinary suit in equity in a federal court, to quiet title, the complainant must show a legal as well as an equitable title. . .”); Towers v. Titus, 5 B.R. 786, 792 (N.D. Cal. 1979) (“The parties agree that action to quiet title have traditionally been equitable.”).

⁵³ See Humble Oil & Refining Co. v. Sun Oil Co., 191 F.2d 705, 718 (5th Cir. 1951) (“The equity jurisdiction of the federal courts extends to suits to quiet title and to remove clouds therefrom. Such jurisdiction is not ousted by state legislation providing a remedy by an action at law.”) (internal citations omitted).

⁵⁴ See, e.g., Towers, 5 B.R. at 792 (N.D. Cal. 1979) (“[P]laintiff has no choice but to seek the equitable remedies of quiet title, or alternatively, constructive trust.”); D’Ambrosio v. Sterling Sav. Bank, No. 3:12-CV-01826-BR, 2013 WL 5744730 at *3 (D. Or. Oct. 22, 2013) (“Plaintiff continues to seek both damages and equitable relief of quiet title.”).

the trustee also requests monetary damages, which is consistent with an action for ejectment⁵⁵ and supports the conclusion that the trustee's ejectment claim is legal in nature. Thus, like the claims stated in Count III, the relief requested is also a mix of law and equity.

Accordingly, I determine that the trustee is entitled to a jury trial on his ejectment claim and request for monetary damages in Count III, but not his quiet title claim in the same count.

III. CONCLUSION

Because the trustee is entitled to a jury trial on at least some of the issues in this adversary proceeding, I will DENY BANA's motion to strike the trustee's jury demand, but leave it to the district court, which will conduct the trial,⁵⁶ to determine which issues should be presented to a jury.

END OF ORDER

⁵⁵ In the present case, Trustee Field's request for damages for loss of use of the property is essentially a request to recover mesne profits, typical of an ejectment suit. Mesne profits are defined as the value of the use or occupation of land during the time it was held by one in wrongful possession." 28A C.J.S. Ejectment § 223 (2021); accord 25 Am. Jur. 2d Ejectment § 49.

⁵⁶ Bankruptcy courts can conduct jury trials only when the district judges authorize the practice and the parties to the case consent. 28 U.S.C. § 157(e). The district judges in this district have not provided the required authorization, and it is unknown whether the parties to this adversary proceeding would provide the requisite consent. Therefore, the jury trial must take place in district court.